

Mr T.S. Kalyanaraman Managing Director, Kalyan Jewellers

Thirty years ago, T. S. Kalyanaraman pioneered the principles of organized jewellery retailing in the state of Kerala and later expanded the business across the nation and beyond. His vision of introducing transparency in the quality and pricing of jewellery to an empowered customer base, attracted by the underlying foundation of trust, has led to the emergence of Kalyan Jewellers as the sole publicly listed jewellery retailer from Kerala. The company is now counted among the top jewellers in the country and has established itself as a trusted brand known for quality, transparent pricing, and innovation.

T.S. Kalyanaraman's entrepreneurial spirit is exemplified by his strategic entry into jewellery retailing, leveraging the business insights he acquired from his substantial experience in the textile industry. Although his family had been engaged in the textile sector for over a century, his drive to build something independently led him to establish Kalyan Jewellers in Thrissur in 1993. With an initial investment of Rs. 75 lakhs, which included his personal savings of Rs. 25 lakhs and a bank loan of Rs. 50 lakhs, Kalyan Jewellers has grown over three decades to achieve a turnover exceeding Rs. 14,000 crores. The company's presence extends across 22 Indian states and 5 countries.

Kalyanaraman set new benchmarks in the predominantly unorganized jewellery business and played a pioneering role in adopting BIS hallmarked jewellery standards. He introduced rate cards detailing the making charges of jewellery, employed Karat Meter technology to assess gold quality, and established customer service outlets under the 'My Kalyan' banner. This initiative aimed to educate customers about jewellery intricacies, a concept previously unheard of in the industry. Today, Kalyan Jewellers boasts over 250 large-format showrooms, and the distinctive My Kalyan network includes 1000+ centres across India, engaging over 10 million potential customers annually.

In the last decade, under T.S. Kalyanaraman's leadership, Kalyan Jewellers expanded its operations to international markets. It marked the first instance of a Kerala-based homegrown brand establishing a presence in the Middle East. Prior instances had involved brands originating in the Middle East and subsequently entering the Kerala market. Currently, Kalyan Jewellers thrives in four Middle Eastern countries. T.S. Kalyanaraman's commitment to excellence and consistent growth attracted an investment from one of the world's largest private equity firms, Warburg Pincus, in 2014. This investment not only constituted the largest Foreign Direct Investment in the Indian jewellery sector but also the largest such investment garnered by a corporation headquartered in Kerala. Today, Kalyan Jewellers is a public listed entity with a market cap that is no less than Rs 36.000.

Employee welfare has always constituted a core aspect of Kalyanaraman's management philosophy. Kalyan Jewellers provides direct employment for over 11000 individuals and indirect employment for 10000 people. During the pandemic, which had a profound impact on industries like retail, Kalyanaraman adopted an employee-first approach. Despite the business coming to a standstill due to a national lockdown, Kalyanaraman ensured that employees received their full salaries.

Additionally, he committed a contribution of Rs. 10 crores to support the Government's COVID relief efforts.

Kalyanaraman consistently champions the notion of "pay it forward." His collaboration with the Kerala Government on the Bhoomigeetham Project underscores his commitment to fulfilling the state's vision for housing, rural development, and sanitation. This commitment extended to a national level, forging a partnership with the internationally recognisedorganisation, Habitat For Humanity. Aligned with the Centre's Housing For All &Swachh Bharat Abhiyan initiatives, this effort directly benefitted over 900 families in Odisha, Telangana, and Andhra Pradesh.

Kalyanaraman's inspiration stems from his late father, and he continues to uphold the century-old legacy of conducting business fairly and transparently. These values have been instilled in his sons, Rajesh and Ramesh, who now oversee day-to-day business operations. While his sons manage the operational aspects, Kalyanaraman remains focused on advancing the company's vision.

Beyond business, Kalyanaraman cherishes his role as a family man, often spending time with his grandchildren. He regularly practices yoga and derives enjoyment from listening to classical music.
